Koffman ratiled along so quickly that Justice Hogan called him to order.
"I've got a witness here," said the officer. The witness was a letter-carrier. He described hinself as D. J. Crimmins, of Station D. He said that the officer had told Koffman to "move on" a number of times, and that Koffman refused to do so. He also said that he heard Koffman abuse the officer.

That was all the testimony taken, although Koffman said he had a witness. Justice Hogan said he would dismiss the complaint anyhow.

leged Connivance.

Theodore Arndt, a druggist, at One venue was arrested this morning of complaint of Inspectors Lederle and Brady, of the State Board of Pharmacy, charged with having in his employ an unregistered drug clerk, who is known to the inspectors only as Jacob Doe.

The clerk had stolen the certificate of another clerk named Cuno Aden, under whose name he hired with Arndt. In some way the clerk learned that the inspectors were looking for him and he disappeared. It is charged that Arndt connived at his escape. The druggist was held for examination.

A train of cars which has been fitted up with the patent lighting apparatus will be run over the Bridge inrec or four times. No other passengers except the trustees and other officials of the Bridge will be carried on this train. The start will be made from this side at 8 P. M.

The present system of lighting the carries primitive and unsatisfactory, and some new plan will be adopted. The gas lighting plan appears to be the one favored by the trustees.

Bridge Trustee Skinner called on Mayor Gilroy about the matter to-day. The Mayor will probably be present to triness the trial.

CHURCH SOCIALS DENOUNCED.

Brochton Preacher Says Pink Teas. &c., Are "Works of the Devil." (By Associated Press.)

BROCKTON, Mass., Jan. 22.—Rev. G. W. Hunt's assertion that Brockton girls are not careful of their behavior had hardly lost its vigor when another bomb was exploded by the Rev. W. A. Burch, of Whitman, a suburb of Brockton, who preached here yesterday for the Advent-or whitehead presented by for the Auventible.

He attacked church entertainments tigorously, and opened five by declaring donkey parties, apron seles, pink teas, and Tom Thumb weddings to be "works to the devil."

The reference to Tom Thumb weddings was a direct aspersion on the members of St. Paul's Episopal Society, who were selected by the paul's Episopal Society, who were selected to the paul's Episopal Society.

When Mr. Lovecraft died it was found that he had left A will bequeathing all the possessed to his friend, Col. Henry S. Kearney. His fortune was estimated at from $50,000 to $200,000. At his death he was interested in a number of business enterprises, commercial and theatrical, and was clerk of the course of the Coney Island Jockey Club.

The deceased's mother, Mrs. Althea Lovecraft, of 41 Avenue B. Rochester, N. Y. and his sisters, Mrs. Florence M. Salmons, of the same address, and Mrs. Martha Chase, of Yonkers, gave notice that they would contest the will as soon as it was filed for probate. They based their claim upon the allegation that Mr. Lovecraft was insance at the time of his death, and that Col. Kearney used undue influence.

Charles Fistehuer, seventeen years old, was held for trial in the Tombs Police Court this morning on the charge of stealing $30 from his friend, William Schlott, twenty-three years old, of 51 East Houston street.

Schlott and Fistehuer were schoolmater in the same town in Germany. Schlott in the same town in Germany. Schlott came to this country a few months ago, promising to send for his chum as soon as he could. Hy dint of strict economy Schlott raised money enough to pay for the passage of Fistehuer, and a few weeks ago the latter landed in this country. He could get no work, and Schlott took him in, sharing his bed and paying for his board.

Instead of being grateful for all this Fistehuer repaid his benefactor by getting up in the night and robbing him of his little savings.

The three important points to consider in this crash are: How fast Engineer Hoffman's train was going; whether Conductor George's Dover express was under headway or not, and whether Brakeman Wheaten did his duty in running back the required distance to flag rear trains and put torpedoes on the track.

Engineer Hoffman positively declares he hadn't the slightest warning by flag or torpedo. Some D., L. and W. men say the Dover express wouldn't have been so smashed unless it was a dead stop or unde. an extremely slow headway.

George says the train was running at least twelve miles an hour. This is an important point to clear, as it will go a long way towards showing the speed of Hoffman's train.

If Conductor George's train had stopped, he was obliged by the first rules of all railroads to be on the ground to see why it stopped and the measures to prevent just such a rearend collision as occurred a week ago today.

George was picked up inside his train, and it is fair to presume that it was under headway and he had a right to be inside.

He has been summoned to appear at the inquest in Hoboken to-night, but his physician, Dr. Perry, of Pover, forbids him going. He says Mr. George will require a good long rest yet, as his nervous system has been badly shattered.
